COVID-19 school guidelines — social distancing, masking, plexiglass, contact tracing and constant hand washing — have caused unprecedented amounts of harm to our children.

It's time for the adults who are charged with caring for our children to make decisions on the children's behalf — not government bureaucrats. Let's do what's best for our children and return our schools to normal.

You might be wondering what's best. Conflicting advice from different health agencies and within health agencies has created an environment of confusion. Below are references that provide clarity on COVID-19 measures as well as their safety and effectiveness.
